Course Overview

How to Perform a Bus Collision Investigation—A Short Course has been developed to provide Florida’s transit agencies with the structure necessary to successfully conduct a bus collision investigation. The chain of events and contributing factors-human and environmental, the evidence analysis, and detailed documentation are critical to conducting a complete investigation of transit bus accidents. This two-day short course has been specifically designed to guide Florida’s transit agencies of all sizes in relevant, standardized ways to conduct a bus collision investigation.

Discussions will include the purpose of safety investigations, working with local law enforcement, FRA/FTA/FDOT roles and requirements, NTSB role and investigative process, notifications–internal & external, and the Incident Command/NIMS. The training will include a series of tabletop exercises with various accident/incident scenarios that serve to draw out organizational and technical aspects of bus incident investigation.

Learning Objectives

Learning objectives will include bus investigation overview and tabletop exercises examining the following scenarios: grade crossing collision involving bus, pedestrian struck in crosswalk, bus rear ended by another vehicle, bus rear ends another vehicle, mirror strike, report writing exercise, critique examples of report samples, writing exercise, and exercise discussion. Each tabletop exercise will include examples of on-scene priorities, on-scene organization, working with local LEOs, perishable evidence, working with FRA/SSO/FTA/NTSB, interviews, scene documentation, recorded data, relevant documentation and standards, tests, and observations measurements.

Who Should Attend

Transit safety and security managers, transit operations and maintenance managers, state transit regulatory personnel, other transit personnel potentially involved in safety and security audits.

Fees

There are no fees to attend this course for current employees of a Florida public transit agency, who meet criteria identified in the Transit Training Policies and Procedures. All participants must have permission from their transit system’s supervisor to attend this course. NOTE: There are no travel reimbursement opportunities available for this training course; all travel expenses are that of the traveler or their agency.
