

Developing a Transit Emergency Management Plan

The Florida Department of Transportation Statewide Transit Technical Assistance and Training Program, administered by the USF Center for Urban Transportation Research (CUTR), will be presenting the Developing a Transit Emergency Management Plan on April 17-18, 2019 in Tampa, Florida. This course is sponsored by The Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey.

Date & Time:

April 17, 2019 8:30am – 4:30pm

April 18, 2019 8:30am – 12:30pm

Host Agency/Training Location:

USF Center for Urban Transportation Research (CUTR)
3808 USF Alumni Drive - Room 102
Tampa, FL 33620
Phone: (813) 974-3120

Course Description:

To be able to safely and efficiently resolve emergencies and interact successfully with emergency responders, transit agencies need to have plans in place before an emergency occurs. This workshop is designed to equip transit employees who are responsible for developing or updating emergency management plans with the skills they need to do so effectively. Participants will learn what elements to include in a plan, how emergency management ties into the activities that their agency and employees already perform, and useful strategies for developing, implementing, and updating their plans. This course will provide participants with the skills needed to develop and implement an effective emergency management plan for their transit agencies.

Course Objectives:

Following completion of the training, participants will be able to:

- Prepare an effective emergency management plan for their transit agencies
- Manage the plan development process to ensure participation of essential internal and external emergency response partners
- Select among available training strategies to support implementation of their plan

Target Audience:

Staff at transit agencies tasked with developing a new plan or updating an emergency management plan.

Fees:

There are no fees to attend this course for current employees of a Florida public transit agency and who meet criteria identified in the Transit Training Policies and Procedures. All participants must have permission from their transit system's operations manager to attend this course. Upon acceptance of registration, participants will receive a logistical confirmation with travel authorization form via email.

There are no travel reimbursement opportunities available for this course. USF is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Institution. For disability accommodations, please contact Molly Buffington at buffington@cutr.usf.edu a minimum of ten (10) working days in advance to the training session.

Registration deadline is March 22, 2019
